Give with a Donor-Advised Fund!

What is a Donor-Advised Fund?

A donor-advised fund (DAF) is an investment account specifically for charitable giving.

How do donor-advised funds work?

You can open an account through a financial institution or community foundation. Contributions made to a DAF are immediately tax-deductible, and can be distributed to qualified non-profits over time. For more information on how to establish a DAF, contact your community foundation or financial advisor.
